GOOD FORTUNE CLINGS TO FRED THOMPSON

Has Had Two Narrow Escapes From Serious Injury

If the good fortune which is clinging to Fred Thompson of Hampton, a conductor on the Exeter, Hampton and Amesbury Electric railway, continues to remain, he has nothing to fear for his future welfare. Here is a brief chronology of what befell him.

Mr. Thompson, short time before the waters closed for the winter was out in his naptha launch. An explosion blew up the gasoline tank, causing the craft to sink, while he escaped uninjured. But this was nothing in comparison to what came his way this week while at his post of duty on the car. While riding along a bullet from a rifle fired along the wayside struck a brass button on his coat, and was deflected in another direction. The dent is still visible. There is no one who knows who fired the shot but it was presumably from some gunner in the woods nearby, not intent on any malice, but one who missed his mark.

Mr. Thompson was the loser of the launch, but otherwise fortune has smiled on him. He is from Nova Scotia, but at the last session of supper for court, he received full naturalization papers.

THE MAINE WILL BE SUNK AT THE SOUND OF TAPS

The Twisted Mass will be Towed Out in the Gulf of Mexico

Washington, Feb. 16.—Impressive funeral services over the remains of sailors recovered from the wreck of the battleship Maine and services over the bulk of the battleship itself have been arranged by the United States and Cuba.

Shortly after March 4, it is expected, the twisted mass which has lain fourteen years in Havana harbor mud, will be towed out into the Gulf of Mexico and sunk. The armored cruiser North Carolina and the scout cruiser Birmingham, with the recovered skeletons aboard, will convey the Maine to her final resting place.

As the two cruisers take the wreck out into the gulf, the batteries of the North Carolina will roar out salute of twenty-one guns. The shore batteries of Cuba will answer as the procession steams out to sea. When deep water is reached crews will be called to quarters, a funeral march will be played, three volleys will be fired and when all that is left of the Maine disappears, a bugler will sound "taps."

Then the North Carolina and the Birmingham, with colors flying, will steam away for Hampton Road. There the remains of the sailors will be transferred from the North Carolina to the Birmingham, which will bring them to Washington for burial in Arlington National cemetery with military honors.

President Gomez has issued a decree, calling for elaborate ceremonies in Havana as the ships leave the harbor. Flags on all Cuban military posts and public buildings will fly at half-mast.

When the bodies are taken to the North Carolina in the morning, the shore batteries will fire every cannon every thirty minutes thereafter until sunset.

A guard of honor of Cuban soldiers and sailors will watch over the remains while the ceremonies on shore are in progress.

cases were tried, and his conduct of the government's case in each instance was marked by a standard of skill which quickly won for him a reputation as one of the great trial lawyers of the country. As a cross-examiner he has few equals and his cross-examination of witnesses in the Tucker murder trial is regarded as a masterpiece.

Since 1905 he has devoted himself to private practice with offices in Boston.

PORTSMOUTH COUNCIL WILL HAVE BENEFIT FOR SICK FUND

C. O'Connell Galvin Will Describe Ceremonies at Great Consistory

A novel and most interesting lecture is announced to take place on Sunday night, February 25th, in the Portsmouth theatre, for the benefit of the Portsmouth Council, Knights of Commons, sick fund.

C. O'Connell Galvin the well known Journalist of the Boston American, who accompanied Cardinal O'Connell on his trip to Rome will give a vivid picture talk on the wonderful ceremonies at the Great Consistory, when the three American bishops were raised to the high positions of Cardinals. Mr. Galvin secured pictures of the most interesting events that happened in the trip to and from Rome and also many hitherto unpublished views of the ceremonies.

Moving pictures are being shown of the receptions accorded to the Cardinal upon his return to Boston, but this illustrated lecture by an eye witness should be particularly instructive and entertaining and amply suited to a Sunday night.

Mr. Galvin's letters from Rome to the Boston American were intensely interesting and created widespread enthusiasm throughout New England, but were naturally unequalled to a personal discourse.

The Knights of Columbus will attend in large numbers and it is expected that the citizens in general will appreciate the worthy cause that will appreciate the worthy cause that

REAPPOINTMENT OF POSTMASTER JOSEPH P. CONNER

Will Have Local Postoffice for Four More Years--General Satisfaction Over Reappointment.

The nomination of Joseph P. Conner has been sent to the Senate by President Taft, for a second term as Postmaster of this city. The news was received on Friday that the nomination had been made and the confirmation is sure to follow.

The reappointment of Postmaster Conner is one that meets with general approval, for there has never been a postmaster in this city who has been so efficient and who has advanced the office as he has. He brought the post office up to first class, and has increased the force both of carriers and clerks, and in other ways made the office very much up to date. Always considerate of the wishes of the patrons of the office, he has instituted changes that have given better service, and especially at the Christmas holiday. There have been other candidates out for the office and Arthur H. Locke even went to the trouble to get out a petition in his favor. This has resulted in holding up the appointment of Mr. Conner for nearly three months, but it was generally understood (that Congressman Sullivan) would name him for reappointment. His record in the department stood him in great stead, for he has an excellent record made up from the reports of the post office inspectors.

Col. Alfred P. Howard, who on Friday attained another anniversary of his birth, was remembered with several handsome gifts as a token of the high esteem in which he is held by the community. These gifts coming from the source they did, are especially pleasing to Col. Howard.

ATTY GEN. BARKER TO DELIVER ADDRESS

The next meeting of the bar association of the state of New Hampshire is to be held in May or June any more than it was in the air. It is thought however, that the party Hon. ELECTRIC ROADS WANT BETTER CONNECTION

Conference of B. & M. and Atlantic Shore Officials Held Here.

Once again the matter of a better connection between the cars of the Atlantic Shore Railway and the Portsmouth Electric Railway in this city has come to the surface.

On Friday the officials of the Boston & Maine which road controls the local street line and those of the road across the river met in this city and took the matter up. Both lines are anxious to do away with the delay caused by present schedule, but how it can be arranged is a problem for them to solve. Local railroad men who were aware of the presence of the officials here would say nothing regarding the matter any more than it was in the air. It is thought however, that the party spent lots of its time on the Portsmouth and Kittery bridge and also the Noble Island structure over the river. They also visited Kittery chasms, to deliver the annual address at that meeting. The time and place of the meeting will be given out later. RULES FOR THE LENTEN SEASON

Cardinal O'Connell announces Lenten regulations as follows:

All the days of Lent, except Sundays are fast days of obligation. Those only are bound to fast, however, who are over 21 years old and not of advanced age, no one in any case being bound to fast who is 60 years old. The following persons are also exempt from fasting: the sick and convalescent; women during pregnancy and while nursing infants; those to whom fasting would cause grave injury to health, or produce such illness or exhaustion as would interfere with their daily duties; and those whose occupations are of a laborious and exhausting nature.

On fast days those under the law are allowed but one full meal and a light supper.

Though the fast days of Lent are also days of abstinence, by virtue of apostolic indulgence even those who are obliged to fast may use flesh, meat once a day on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, except the second and last Saturdays.

The use of flesh, meat, and fish at the same meal is forbidden to all persons during Lent, even on Sundays.

How to Cure a Bad Cold and End Grippe Misery in a Few Hours

The most severe cold will be broken, and all grippie misery ended after taking a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

You will distinctly feel all the disagreeable symptoms heading after the very first dose.

The most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism pains and other distress vanishes.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippie.

MOTHER-OF-PEARL WORK.

Method by Which the Designs Are Built Up Bit by Bit.

Wonderful is the work of the designer in mother-of-pearl. With tiny segments of this iridescent material he builds up a beautiful design bit by bit, section by section.

First, from the cabinetmaker he receives the woodwork upon which his design will be formed. It may be the top of a carved chest, a portion of a stool or table, or some dainty neck-piece to delight a lady's heart.

Then upon the wood he roughly draws the design and gathers together the crude pieces with which to form the mosaic in the wood. Selecting a piece of mother-of-pearl, he fits it in a vise, and then with a tiny file he shapes it to occupy the required space. Deftly he sets the section in the wood, fixing it with warm paste to fill the crevices.

Another piece is then selected, fashioned and secured, and so day after day till the piece is complete. The design is then rubbed with pumice stone to give enhanced color, varnish is applied, and the finishing touches are given.

Touquin, a division of French Indo-China, furnishes the finest native in-layers of mother-of-pearl. — Pearson's Weekly.

A MUSICAL RIOT.

One of the Attractions at an Old Time Virginia Celebration.

Here is a program observed in the celebration of St. Andrew's day in an old Virginia town in 1787:

That a fiddle be played for by twenty fiddlers, every person to bring his own fiddle. After the prize is won they are all to play together and each one a different tune and then be treated by the company.

That twelve boys of twelve years of age do run for 112 yards for a hat at the cost of 12 shillings.

That a flag be flying on said day thirty feet high.

That after dinner the royal health, his honor the governor's, is to be drunk.

That a pair of silver buckles be wrestled for by a number of brisk young men.

That a pair of handsome shoes be danced for.

That a pair of handsome silk stockings of one pistole value be given to the handsomest young maid that appears in the field.

It is probable, says the Ohio State Journal, our tastes are too much changed to enjoy such a list of attractions, but one may imagine what fun they must have caused.

Ocean Cannibals.

Such fierce carnivorous fishes as exist in the depths of the ocean are unknown at the surface. There is a "black swallower" which devours other fishy creatures ten times as big as itself, literally climbing over its victim, first with one jaw and then with the other. Another species is nearly all mouth, and having no power of locomotion, it lies buried in the soft ooze at the bottom, its head alone protruding, ready to engulf any prey that may wander into its cavernous jaws. There is a ferocious kind of shark resembling a huge eel. All of these monsters are black as ink. Some of them are perfectly blind, while others have enormous, goggling eyes. No ray of sunlight ever pierces the dark, unfathomable caves in which they dwell. Each species is guided by the species next bigger, for there is no vegetable life to feed on.—Spare Moments.

As Others See It.

Every two or three weeks I approach my house from the unusual side and make a note of the effect of porch, windows and the curtains. Then I try to go into the house as a stranger. Pictures which have become so familiar that they were a part of the wall I see the need of changing, and so I see things all through the house. I think more than anything else I find the rooms overcrowded and fussy and something can be banished. Of course I can't always do these things at the time, but I make a note of them. This has worked so well with my house that I am trying it for myself. When dressed for the street or house I step to the glass and say, "Let me present you to Mrs. —" and try to look at myself as a stranger, and I see many things to improve. It is a good thing to "see ourselves as others see us."—Harper's Bazar.

The Lobster's Color.

The shell of the lobster is imbued with a black or bluish pigment secreted by the true skin, which also gives out the calcareous matter after each molt, so that line and pigment are blended together. This pigment becomes red, pale and intense in water at a temperature of 212 degrees Fahrenheit, and the same effect is produced by the action of alcohol, ether and various acids.

A Sad Discovery.

"How does Brown like the high position he was recently promoted to?" "Not very well." "But I thought it was paying him $10,000 a year?" "So it is. But he's discovered that his employers expect him to earn it." —Detroit Free Press.

THREE WOMEN HELD FOR INTIMIDATION OF STRIKERS

Judge Mahoney Again Rules Against the Strikers With An Old Law.

Lawrence, Feb. 16.—Intimidation, one of the most troublesome features of the strike, will be dealt with to the full extent of the law after this, Judge J. J. Mahoney of the Municipal Court gave due warning to this effect this morning. The occasion for this remark was the arraignment of three young women who were arrested at midnight charged with attempting to prevent, by intimidation, Miss Rose Roy and Miss Minnie Duquette from going to work in the Washington Mills. One of these three, Mrs. Annie Welzenback, is probably the most active woman in the strike, always present at the strike committee meetings and occupying a front seat. The other two are her sisters, Miss Emma Steindl and Miss Lillian Steindl. All three pleaded "not guilty" and C. J. Mahoney asked for a continuance of the case because J. P. S. Mahoney, who is counsel for Eitor, will appear also as counsel for these three girls and he had an engagement in another court this morning. Judge Mahoney acceded to the request by continuing the case of each under $200 bail until next Tuesday morning, but in doing this he gave the strikers to understand that he will no longer deal leniently with those who try to intimidate operators wishing to go to work. He said that his attitude generally is to admonish and warn offenders rather than to punish them after they get into court, but in the present controversy the thing that makes for unrest among the citizens is this practice of intimidation, and he proposes to put a stop to it. Considering that there has been due warning given, the court will treat this class of offenders a little different in the future. "A fellow who wants to go to work," said the court, "has the same right as the fellow who doesn't, and there is no reason in the world why this thing should not be stopped." In this connection the court read section 18 of chapter 514 of the Acts of 1909, which is the codification of the labor law, as follows: "No person shall, by intimidation or force, prevent, or seek to prevent, a person from entering into or continuing in the employment of any person or corporation." The Government had about fifteen witnesses present for this case, mostly women. The arrest of these three women was a big surprise to the strike leaders and caused almost a sensation among them. Mrs. Welzenback has been doing much committee work for the strike committee, and she is the woman frequently referred to as the highest paid operative in her class.

STOP INDOREMENT.

Declaring it was not his best judgment that every one in Massachusetts should clasp the Grand Trunk railroad as a cure for all the railroad ills. Senator Ezra W. Clark of Brockton checked a report of the transportation committee of the Brockton Chamber of Commerce, which endorsed the move of the Canadian road, and stopped the organization, at its monthly meeting from going on record as favoring the measure.

While we would like to see the Grand Trunk railroad make Portsmouth one of the terminals, we cannot consistently approve any legislation that would allow the Canadian road to parallel some of the roads in the north part of the state, that are having hard work to meet their running expenses.

A BUNCH OF PENNIES.

The Portland Express says: "The almost incredible statement comes from Washington that last year over 300,000,000 one-cent pieces were collected by rural carriers from mail boxes in which the coins had been placed and intended as payment for stamps, postal cards and money orders. Persons, ignorant of the postal rules, not having stamps to put on their letters and post cards, dropped the coins in the mail boxes evidently with the idea that they could be used in supplying the postage on the unsampled mail matter. The postmaster general has issued a warning to all who receive their mail through rural carriers against depositing any money in the boxes. All mail matter to be forwarded must be properly stamped and the stamps can be procured at the nearest post office. When a person is in doubt about the amount of postage or in regard to money orders he shall consult the route carrier."

Portsmouth's ice-free harbor inspires a story to be most convincingly told during the winter months; her claim to the navy yard is a tale as timely during summer's heated term as in the dead of winter.

Portsmouth harbor, is still open to navigation, and if Uncle Sam has any warships lying around loose, they can be safely anchored in this ideal harbor. In the meantime, it only remains for Boston Harbor to freeze to make the list of undesirable for a central naval station complete. No better argument could be advanced for the retention of the Portsmouth navy yard, than the fact that our recent cold weather had no effect of stopping navigation in the harbor there, while other harbors up and down the coast have caused more or less difficulty by freezing over Narragansett Bay, the so-called ideal spot, has been ice-bound off and on, for weeks. And still Mr. Meyer wants to locate one big naval station there. Perhaps he's going into the ice business as a side line. Old York Transcript.

With most Atlantic ports as far south as Baltimore in the grip of an ice blockade, Portsmouth announces that the Piscataqua is open to rowboats to a point five miles above the city. This seems reasonable enough to the person who ever tried to reach Pullman's Point across the ice. Boston Record.

Not only has the river been open to rowboats all winter, but to vessels of the deepest draught. It would be well for our Boston contemporary to know that since Henderson's Point was removed the famous swear point is not the bugaboo of old and never was but for weaklings.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.

As to Reporters.

A member of the family of C. W. Morse, convicted banker whom President Taft recently let out of prison thus cutting short a term of 14 years confinement, remarked in New York that they had been "pestered almost to death by reporters." Poor Morse. Perhaps the better thing that reporters of the press ought to be sent to the prison cell which the ex-banker vacated, because they "pested" a pardoned convict. This may seem severe criticism of the Morse family, which is in "trouble" just now, but the top lofty air in comment on the fact that reporters have been "following" Mr. Morse, and the implication that they and the public

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Gleanings From Files of Portsmouth Chronicle

The fire engines were called out and a general alarm raised in this city on Friday evening last about half past eight, and it was stated that some building, near the Eastern Railroad depot, was on fire, but we have been unable to ascertain any good foundation for the alarm or the story.

Lieut. Lowry of the U. S. Marine Corps, has been detached from the Marine Barracks at this Naval station, and ordered to report for duty to Com. Dupont, of the Southern Squadron at Port Royal.

Nineteen recruits from Belfast passed through this city one day last week, under the charge of a Lieutenant, destined for Alexandria, to reinforce a company of the 4th Maine Regiment that suffered a severe loss at Bull Run.

The small pox is raging in Jewett City, Conn., to such an extent that the mills are stopped, the district schools suspended public gatherings they represent have no business with the Morse affairs, is provocative of severe arraignment. Mr. Morse was liberated from prison because the doctors said he had not more than a month to live. The month is nearly ended, and he is now on the high seas, on one of the crack Atlantic liners, bound for Europe. The public is profoundly interested to know whether he is as sick a man as was claimed. It has a right to know, and it evidently will never learn unless the despised reporters find out and make known the facts. It ill becomes any of the Morse family to resent public interest in the husband's physical condition, because that condition was the sole reason assigned for his release. The sneer here dwelt upon comes with poor grace from a member of the family of a convicted criminal. It is probable that not one of the reporters sneered at by Mrs. Morse has a criminal record, however, humble he may be.—Salem News.

Honor in Newspapers.

A Lawrence minister who was grossly misquoted by one of Boston's yellow journals showed a not unnatural indignation when he was asked to explain some of the statements the yellow journal represented him as saying.

His reply to his questioner contains a shining bit of truth that it would be well if it could be blazoned forth all over the country and impressed upon the minds of those who fancy they know the cures for all the social ills from which the public suffers.

He said: "The remedy for most of our present ills is more honor in newspaper publications."

After the past three weeks' exhibition of what certain scandal mongering Boston newspapers will stoop to in the way of deliberate lies, it is incitements to class hatred, of suggestive articles of the use of dynamite bombs and dafters, of irresponsible labor disputes, of slanderous misrepresentation of all the inhabitants of a city, of cold blooded tampering with the homes and business interests of 85,000 people, of Lawrence know there is much to give grounds for this minister's statement that "the remedy for most of our present ills is more honor in newspaper publications."

Not only Lawrence but all the allies in the north are suffering from the recklessly inflammable character of the press in these so-called yellow journals. Absolute lying in all standards of truth, of honor, of justice, of fair dealing is the spirit that permeates these papers, that percolates down among the newly arrived immigrants whose ignorance of America makes them take such papers as representative of the spirit of the country.

Those immigrants are not so much to blame when, inflamed by those journals' portrayal of conditions, they break forth into acts of law defying violence as are the conductors of such papers. The conductors of such papers know that they are cultivating discontent and enmity, know that there is no difference between what they are urging the poor to do to the rich than there is between urging one man to take another man's money and that there would be no difference be-forbidden, and a general blockade proclaimed.

An order has been issued by the President directing the release of all State prisoners and granting an amnesty for past political offenses.

Dr. Hayes, the Arctic explorer, has tendered his services to the government in any capacity it may need him.

Capt. John Brown (son of the John Brown whose soul is "marching on") arrived at Fort Leavenworth a few days since from Detroit, Mich., with forty recruits, one of whom was with his father in the Harper's Ferry tragedy. Capt. Brown's company is now full, and is assigned to Col. Jennison's regiment.

To add to the chapter of horrors at Richmond, so graphically described by the Examiner, that city is soon to be left, it appears, in pitchy darkness after sunset. They have no oil and cannot get coal to manufacture gas.

Between a society organization on a basis of seizing a provident man's savings and dividing them among the improvident than between the society that exists today in every uncivilized land, the strong takers what they like from the weak and holding what they can, a society up from which at civilized nations have struggled and back into which all decadent nations fall.

But Lawrence has along with its disagreeable experience with the sensationalism of Boston papers had had very agreeable experience with the newspapers of Boston that recognize that they are under moral obligations to tell the truth, to be fair, to be just and to use their mighty power for good or ill in a way that will redound not only to their own glory but that will form part and parcel of that heroic spirit that we all live to think characteristic of our beloved commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Long after the strike is settled the newspaper readers of Lawrence will remember with gratitude the clean fair dealing portion of the Boston press.—Lawrence Telegram.

The Observer

There's hail in the stealth pipe,
There's frost on the coal;
There's ice in the furnace
Beyond all control.
No blaze is sent forth
As in days that are gone,
A blizzard turns loose
When the draft is turned on.

When once was combustion
The flames we discerned
Are motionless standing
To icicles turned.
The water pipes burst,
It's a tale sad to tell,
And the fountain of truth—
That is frozen as well.

Washington Star.

A good story is told on one of our legal rights, that would seem to place "Absent Minded Abner" in a class by himself. The lawyer in question, in company with other members of the legal fraternity was journeying from this city to Exeter one day in the early part of the week, via the steam railroad. Rockingham Junction was reached all right and the party boarded the train for their destination. When the conductor came through to collect the fares, our legal friends reached in his pocket and tendered him a nickel. The conductor was a very surprised man, as he knew the attorney was in possession of a railroad pass, and inquired what the money was for. This caused an explanation in the part of the attorney, who said he thought he was riding on the electric and so had proffered the usual fare. On the arrival of the party in Exeter the other members enjoyed hot chocolate at his expense.

St. Valentine's day is improving. The stationers no longer display in their windows those vulgar comic valentines which a few years ago heralded the coming of the day. Good Bishop Valentine, who was martyred in Rome in the third century and beheading made a saint was given the fourteenth of February as his day tonic. Makes you clear-eyed, clear-headed and astonished to see how it brained, clear-headed.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Editor Herald:—

In your issue of a few days ago I noted an item pertaining to a group on part of the veteran brethren, because they were not requested by the men of the active department to be represented by a team in the bowling league just organized. The same item went on to say that these veterans were great men at all fires and that the regular department would be practically unable to battle the flames without the aid of the veterans.

This looks like a case of swelled head on the part of somebody. I would like to ask when and where any of the veterans have distinguished themselves at a fire? When did the regular department ever appeal to them, individually or collectively for any assistance? I wish to say that the veterans have been on easy street for many years and it is partly through the help given them by regular firemen and not what these so-called vets have given the active firemen. If the red shirts will retire to their rooms and confine themselves to hand tub matters and not politics and business of the regular department, they will be far better off in a long run.

Signed: Member of Active Dept. Portsmouth, Feb. 17.

MR. KELLY NOW AT HOME.

The rate hearings at Concord were adjourned yesterday until March 6th. At the close of the testimony of the General Freight Agent, Mr. Kelley, counsel for the Railroad, announced to the Commissioners that with the exception of certain tabulated statistics and tests which were to be put in later as soon as they are finished the Railroad had presented to the Commission all the information which in the opinion of the Railroad was germane, relevant and informing on the questions submitted to the Commission by the Legislature.

This resulted in an adjournment until March 6th, at which time it is expected that the statistical information called for will be furnished, and then it is uncertain just what course the investigation will take, but it is presumed that the Public Service Commission will indicate to counsel for the railroad certain other lines on which it will want information.

It will be a matter of some comfort to Mr. Kelley's clients in Portsmouth and vicinity to learn that he is to be home here practically all the time until March 6th.

stood that nothing in the way of condemned stores will be marked for sale without the approval of the expert.

Nothing Gets by Boston.
Representatives Murray of Massachusetts appeared at the navy department today in behalf of employees of the Boston yard. He presented their grievances regarding the frequent furloughing of men and made suggestions for steadier work. One of these suggestions was that if the cruiser Des Moines were put out of commission and efforts made to begin the repairs to be given the Virginia the contemplated reduction of the force of mechanics could be avoided. Secretary Meyer will take the matter under consideration.

New Hampshire College Students Hold Sixth Annual Hop at Durham, N. H. Gym.

Durham, N. H., Feb. 16.—The sixth annual sophomore hop of the New Hampshire College students was held in the gymnasium this evening. Raymond W. Smart of Dover was the marshal. He was assisted by the following aids: C. G. Paulson, H. R. McCartney, W. E. Arthur, J. E. Davis, L. S. Rifford and T. A. Davis. The matrons were Mrs. C. H. Pettie, Mrs. C. L. Parsons, Mrs. E. J. David, Mrs. T. J. Latol and Mrs. M. Sanders.

The gymnasium was tastefully decorated in the college colors, blue and white, together with a large number of potted ferns and palms. The huge girders were wrapped in blue and white bunting, while huge streamers floated across the hall from support to support. The matrons' corner was also artistically arranged with its mahogany furniture, plants and screens. An orchestra from Lawrence played.

A car load of Cadillac automobiles arrived yesterday for Obas. Woods. These have been on the road for two weeks and the crowd that was present at time of unloading was very much interested in seeing the electric self starter crank the engine over. This is work as any car owner well knows, when a new car especially has been standing out of doors for two weeks in zero weather. It was a hard test for any starter and is safe to say no other starter in use could do the same.

IT MEANS SOMETHING.
A car that has won over five hundred victories in endurance, reliability, speed, economy and hill climbing contests means something to prospective buyers. Such is the Buick record, they having won over ninety-one per cent. of all the events entered into, demonstrating in grind-log and racking contests, the well known indistinct soundness of its construction. Your $3,000 satisfied owners drive Buick cars. There is a reason.

ARRIVAL HOME OF NEW CARDINAL AT MUSIC HALL

Pictures of Cardinal O'Connell Together with Big Vauderville Bill.

A photoplay of Cardinal O'Connell's arrival in Boston from a three months stay in Rome, Italy, will be at Music Hall on Monday and Tuesday. This picture should prove interesting to everybody as there are only three in the United States.

The management made a ten-strike in securing the above picture and there is no doubt that there will be full houses, for the first three days. The picture was taken in a rain storm, but that doesn't prevent the clearness of the photography. The Cardinal is shown on deck of the steamer along with his suite and officers of the ship. Then a view of the parade that is held in his honor, is given. Every little detail of importance being shown.

The vaudeville is headed by Wilmot and Brown, in a singing and dancing specialty. This team has traveled extensively being no new comers in the theatrical line and have always met with success.

Another act on the bill is "Frankline" and Deore, novelty equilibrist. This team comes here direct from one of the big vaudeville houses in Boston where they scored heavily.

Miss Ethel Wood, a young comely soloist who met with such decided success here during her four months engagement last summer is back again, singing the latest pictorial ballads.

In addition to the motion pictures of Cardinal O'Connell, the program will include Pawnee Love, Pathe, The Wife of a Genius. A very good dramatic story by the Essanay company and others.
